

Dear Colleague,
 This issue of the FEMS Affiliates Letter will focus on our 90-day subscription promo. If you're interested in getting a free subscription to the FEMS journals, please stay put and continue reading...

Answer our survey and get a free subscription to the FEMS Journals

The Federation of European and Microbiological Societies and Wiley Blackwell are giving away free 90-day subscription to all five FEMS journals.

The new Wiley Blackwell website which carries the FEMS Journals features a clean and simple interface.

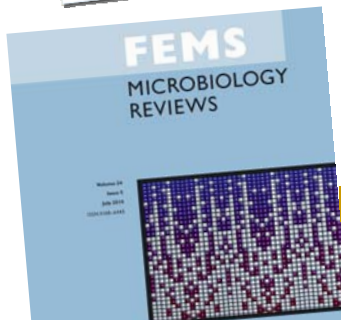

To qualify for this promotion, all you have to do is answer this survey. It will not take you more than 15 minutes to complete it. Afterwards, you will get the full information on how to access your 90-day free subscription.

It boasts of an easy-to-use new design where relevant content is easily discoverable through comprehensive search optimization.

With the activation of content alerts and RSS feeds, you are kept updated of the latest published research, including journal tables of contents, EarlyView and AcceptedArticles and search results.

In relation to this, our journal publisher Wiley Blackwell website gets an online facelift. You can check it out by clicking this link.

FEMS Journals open for 2011 cover images

Suggestions for cover illustrations of the FEMS journals are now being encouraged.

- Maria Moustaka-Gouni of Greece for the FEMSEC cover image
- Beatrice Olawami Temilade Ifesan et al. of Songkla, Thailand for the FEMSIM Cover image
- Eva Marie Muehe et al. of Tübingen, Germany for the FEMSLE cover image
- James E. Berleman and John R. Kirby of Iowa, USA for the FEMSRE cover image
- Kathryn Cross of Norwich, UK for the FEMSyr cover image

Every year, the FEMS journals get new cover images. The images accompanied by the legend are used for all issues of the FEMS journals for the whole calendar year. They also appear in miniatures on the FEMS website and the publisher's website. In addition, the covers are used for promotional purposes.

If you or your group have images of microorganisms that you would like to be considered for the 2011 covers, please contact the FEMS Editorial Office at publications@fems-microbiology.org.

The following authors were responsible for the images used in the journals this year (2010):
